OTHER PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

The Community Builders, Inc., Boston MA, Fall 1999 to Spring 2002

Associate General Counsel: The Community Builders, Inc. is a non-profit affordable housing developer. As a member of the in-house legal department, I provided services relating to affordable housing finance, real estate, regulatory and general corporate law in several multi-million dollar projects which received financing from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, other state and federal sources, tax credit investment and private sources. Other areas of legal representation included design and construction, landlord/tenant, property management and human services matters. Corporate legal services included intellectual property licensing and trademark prosecution, non-profit maintenance and finance.

Foley, Hoag & Eliot LLP, Boston, MA, Fall 1996 to Fall 1999

Associate: Foley, Hoag & Eliot is a full-service law firm with approximately 250 lawyers in Boston and Washington, D.C. I practiced in the intellectual property and business departments of the law firm. I provided representation to financial services institutions, computer software companies and other clients with respect to a wide range of intellectual property issues, including software development, technology licensing and transfer, electronic commerce, trademark prosecution and trademark and copyright infringement. I also provided representation to technology companies and other clients with respect to general corporate and securities matters, including initial public offerings, mergers and acquisitions. My pro bono practice included housing eviction and domestic violence proceedings, as well as corporate and intellectual property legal work for shelters, housing associations, a tenants' association and low-income women entrepreneurs.

Hall & Associates, Los Angeles, CA, Fall 1995 to Fall 1996

Public Interest Fellow: Hall & Associates was a public interest law firm with approximately six lawyers in Los Angeles. I participated in all aspects of its litigation practice, including briefing and arguing a motion in a federal district court environmental justice and race discrimination case, participating in a jury trial under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, and acting as lead counsel in a mediation in an Americans with Disabilities Act case.
